

Unrecognized, while there are sufficient facilities and tools available for performing surgeries! As Dr. Ludwig says, science may be considered the last mistake of humanity. Nowadays, with the use of artificial materials and hormones, human lifespan has increased, yet despite this, so many sick and elderly individuals exist, and associations and treatment institutions emerge one after another. But who can afford the exorbitant costs of treatment?

Some individuals are forced to send their loved ones to nursing homes, which we better rename as "family abandonment centers"! Humans should not be separated from the family unit. Such a life in hardship and loneliness is unworthy of a human being and holds no value.

Those who have undergone visible changes and developed physical problems have mostly undergone various surgeries; this is a result of our modern-day life. We should ask those who believe that calcium milk is beneficial for humans why so many people have bone problems? Why are they often unable to stand easily on their feet? As long as our so-called educated class is incapable of thinking critically, we cannot expect a positive transformation. They dismiss any opinion that seems unscientific.

In a small area with a population of only 2,000, nine people have undergone heart surgeries, and the tenth is still on the waiting list. Doctors say that individuals who undergo heart surgery usually have shorter lives and must follow a specific diet, but this diet is not proposed to them prior to the surgery.
